HUGE IRON METEORITE

Here for your consideration is an Iron Meteorite which I am told is probably (CLOSEST VISUAL MATCH) a piece of the Tucson 'RING' I wanted to keep it WHOLE so I could not allow the Department to CUT or SLICE, or ETCH' the Meteorite to see the WIDMANSTATTEN PATTERN .....

( The CRYSTALLINE patterns become VISIBLE when the METEORITES are CUT, POLISHED, and ACID ETCHED. )

We cannot be certain, therefore that it is NICKEL but it very well may be. (You will have the FIRST CUT into this OLD /New Find)

We DO Know for sure that this IS a SOLID IRON Specimen. What a FIND!

I took this to the University of Arizona and they said it is an SOLID IRON METEORITE. See the Pictures U of A Rock/Mineral Dept.

The size is: 22 x 10-3cm X - 6 x 7cm

and the weight is a whopping: 3229 grams

I have found only TWO small Stone' meteorites in my lifetime. NEVER an IRON one, and NEVER as HUGE and HEAVY as this one! This is a very collectible METEORITE! Serious collector's, and Beginners as well will appreciate this FINE SPECIMEN!

After many hour of research and surf/searching the internet,

I have found that other 'Canyon Diablo' Meteorites are selling for a MUCH HIGHER price than I am asking for mine! For example,

I saw a 310 gram Canyon Diablo (UN CUT) with an (PRICE REDUCTION) special/sale price of $449.99 My Meteorite is TEN TIMES as heavy as that one, so at this comparison my meteorite would sell on the market for at least ten times that amount @ $4,450.00 AND that was an ON their 'SPECIAL/SALE' Price of their 310 gram Canyon Diablo!

This meteorite is worth AT LEAST
$4,450.00

Grab it now while you can! While it is here, and while it's available for a FRACTION of what its worth!
