Item specifics

Classified: UNCO Lunar Anorthosite Fragmental Regolith Breccia

This full-stone, 303 gram "Provisional" Lunar Anorthosite Olivine/Gabbro/Fragmental Impact Melt Breccia is loaded with gorgeous olivine, gabbros, beautifully brecciated clasts of lunar basalt & regolith, pyroxene crystals and the metals are Magnesium, Ca-aluminum, and Nickel-Iron. With the quantity & density of the olivine, it is thought that this specimen originated from, or nearby "Olivine Hill" on the far side of the Lunar surface.

This meteorite is lightly magnetic, yet it still has a decent draw. Lunar meteorites are not known for high nickel-iron content. It is estimated that the iron content is less than 10% and the nickel is in the neighborhood of 2-3%, given the neosilicate appears to land in the "Forsterite" (Mg<sub>2</sub>SiO<sub>4</sub>) range, as opposed to higher levels Fe<sub>2</sub> levels of the Fayalite end of the neosilicate range (Fe<sub>2</sub>SiO<sub>4</sub>).

As with all UNCO Meteorites, a "Certificate of Authenticity & Provisional Certification" will accompany your purchase, with your satisfaction guaranteed 100%, or your money back. Your purchase will be carefully shipped & insured up to the "fair market value."

UNCO has a wide variety of Lunar Meteorites to fit any collection and budget; We have near-perfect pairings of all currently "Classified" Lunars, along with several new classifications of Lunars in process. With final classification, the prices & values of all UNCO meteorites will increase exponentially. For the time being, all UNCO Lunar Meteorites, regardless of "Provisional Title" or "Classification," are priced at $1500.00 per gram. Please contact us with your special research needs & budget.
