Classified: Lunar Meteorite

This 495 gram North American Lunar Anorthosite Breccia, recently recovered in Western Colorado, will be a fabulous and historic centerpiece to your collection. It is among the first Lunar meteorites to be discovered in North America. If in doubt, please compare our microscopic thin sections to those of the Lunar & Planetary Institute's "Lunar Sample Atlas." Just type "Lunar Sample Atlas" into your web browser and go to work.

You will find that this specimen is petrologically & mineralogically identical to the recoveries of nearly all the Anorthositic & Noritic specimens by the Apollo 16 & 17 Lunar astronauts. If you are still uncertain, feel free to ask any University in America for a thin section comparison. Additional microscopic thin section photography is available upon request.

At a very reasonable price of $3500.00 per gram, this unprecedented find is well under valued. The first Lunar meteorite discovered outside of Northwest Africa & Antarctica, was the Calalong Creek Lunar found in Western Australia in 1992. The Calalong Creek Lunar brought $40,000.00 per gram!!

Your purchase will be accompanied by a Certificate of Authenticity and a full, 100% money back guarantee! Don't let the collector next door have the "one-up" on you! This specimen belongs in your collection!!
